EMISSARIES SENT OUT IN COUNTRY

Tell Workmen To Await The Signal From St. Petersburg
Before Taking Any Radical Steps
In Revolution.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Petersburg, July 6.—The impossibility of forming a coalition ministry, together with the show of strength developed by the government in the upper house, has evidently had the effect of temporarily prolonging the life of the Guberniy ministry and has resulted in the postponement of the Emperor's contemplated cruise in Finnish waters.

Still at Work
In accordance with the decision of the peasant workmen's congress at Helsinki, emissaries have been dispatched throughout all Russia to instruct the peasants, proletarian organizations to continue preparations for the armed uprising, but to await the signal from St. Petersburg.

SENATOR PETTUS IS EIGHTY-FIVE TODAY

Oldest Member of Upper House at Washington Celebrated His Birth Day.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., July 6.—General Edmund W. Pettus of Alabama, the oldest member of the United States senate, reached his eighty-fifth birthday today. He will be eighty-seven years old when his present term expires, but notwithstanding this fact he has announced his candidacy for another term. His colleague, Senator Morgan, who is also past his eightieth year, is likewise a candidate to succeed himself. Ambitious politicians in Alabama are already laying plans to fill the shoes of the venerable senators, but in the opinion of official Washington the state will have a hard time to find more able or loyal representatives in the upper branch of congress than the aged incumbents. General Pettus has had a career that would have furnished plenty of excuse for retirement from active life many years ago. He served as a lieutenant in the Mexican war. He made a journey from Alabama to California on horseback in 1849. He returned in 1855 and was made a judge. He served through the civil war, fighting in many battles, and finally becoming a brigadier general. He then went back and practiced law until, at the age of seventy-five he was elected to the senate. He is now serving his second term.

HANDSOME PEARL IN ROCK RIVER CLAM

Found By Herman Readell, Employed
By Joseph Roessling, On South
Main Street.
While clamming in Rock River near the home of Joseph Roessling on South Main street where he is employed, Herman Readell discovered a very fine large pearl, probably the largest, most perfect and handsomest ever taken from the Rock. The gem is perfect in shape and finish and pure white. The only defect is in the coloring in one small spot but this would be hidden when the pearl is mounted. Probably the last pearl of any value found here was taken from a clam several years ago by Larry Ryan but local jewelers pronounce that to be inferior to the more recently found. Mr. Roessling purchased the pearl of Mr. Readell for ten dollars.

There was information that it was being used to manufacture bombs and as the Cossacks were forcing their way in a terrific explosion blew the kiln to pieces and eight Cossacks were killed and five wounded.

SATISFACTORY TALK AS TO THE OUTLOOK

Secretary True Says Wisconsin Has Promises of Having Banner Crops.

In his monthly farm crop report for June, Secretary True of the state board of agriculture says: "The weather during the last month has been generally favorable throughout the state for the growth of small grains and grasses. Some locations, however, notably in the southern tier of counties, complain of severe drought, seriously interfering with these crops even while others in central and northern sections report damage from excessive rainfall."
As a whole, reports show a very satisfactory condition of the leading crops of the state. The winter damage to meadows from freezing proves to be even greater than was shown by our last report, and while grass is well grown on newly seeded fields, the stand is thin and the yield of hay will be much less than that of last year. Pastures remain in good condition except in sections referred to as drought-stricken.
Up to the middle of June the condition of corn was by no means encouraging, but since that time, with warmer weather, it has grown rapidly and is little behind the average for a term of years in growth and promise. The stand is generally good, and notwithstanding frequent rains, most fields are well worked and free from weeds. Winter grains are rapidly approaching the ripening stage without any serious interference from insects, or rust. Spring sown grains are not so universally overgrown as last season and give promise of maturing with less loss from lodging. Sugar beets are making an excellent growth where not overrun by weeds.
Tobacco planting can hardly be said to be yet finished. The weather has been favorable for transplanting, and very little loss has occurred there from. The earlier set plants are already showing rapid growth.
It is probably useless to expect a full crop of apples in any season, unless spraying of trees is done in a timely and thorough manner. The young fruit is falling badly from the work of insects, and the quantity and quality from neglected trees will be much below what was early expected. Plums also suffer from the same or similar insect pests. Berries promise to be abundant. The special crops of peas, cabbage, etc., are reported in good condition.

NEGRO MUTINEER WILL HANG FOR HIS CRIMES

Testified Against Two Others Who Were In Plot, But Failed To Clear Himself Of Charge.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Wilmington, N. C., July 6.—This is the date set for the execution of Henry Scott, the first of the three negro mutineers to pay the death penalty for the bloody crimes enacted on the schooner Harry A. Berwind on her voyage from Mobile to this city last October. Scott's accomplices, Robert Sawyer and Arthur Adams, are under sentence to be hanged here next month and with their execution the last survivor of the ill-fated ship will disappear.
It was on October 12 last that the four-masted schooner Harry A. Berwind, her decks and cabin spotted with blood, was towed into Southport by Wilmington tugs. Aboard was a prize crew of the New York schooner Blanche H. King, in charge of the three shackled and cowering negroes who were charged with having murdered and killed in cold blood the captain, mate and fellow shipman. The story in detail is a bloody and terrible one, surpassing the imagination of writers of the most lurid tales of the sea. Sawyer and Adams were tried jointly and convicted largely on the testimony of Scott, who took the stand against them. Scott told the story of the voyage of the Berwind from the time she left Philadelphia in July with the same crew on board as at the time of the mutiny, going to Cardenas, Cuba, and thence to Mobile. Soon after leaving Philadelphia he said there was trouble with the food, which continued all through the voyage, becoming worse after the vessel left Cardenas for Mobile. The members of the crew were Capt. Edward B. Rumill, whose home was in Maine; John Hall, mate; Smith, engineer; Folby, cook; John S. Coakley, negro seaman; all of whom were murdered; and the three negroes, Adams, Sawyer, and Scott.
At Mobile, Scott said, all of the crew were ashore and Adams, Coakley and Sawyer bought revolvers at a pawn shop, telling him, Scott, that they were going to "fix" the officers from the schooner if they had any more trouble. Coming up to the story of the tragedy, Scott said:
"On Friday night, October 6, off the Florida straits, a storm struck us and carried away our foretop-sail. The last time I saw Capt. Rumill was on Monday night at eight o'clock. On Tuesday morning Sawyer was on the lookout and Adams at the wheel."
"About 4:30 o'clock the whistle blew and I went to the cook to get the coffee pot. Hall, the mate, was sitting there drinking coffee and the steward was in the galley. I took the coffee pot and went to the fore-castle. When I went in Adams was terribly dramatic. The men were inside the four-foot stack and slipped down as it fell over. They were shot out from the immense tube as it struck the ground with such force as to rebound high in the air. Later both men died later."
"When I heard it I ran on the starboard side, and Coakley had the mate throwing him overboard. Sawyer fired two shots into the steward. During this time Adams was wrestling with the engineer, and when Coakley and Sawyer had thrown the mate and cook overboard they came to Adams' assistance and each of them fired two shots into the engineer. Then they threw him overboard."
"After supper Sawyer said he will take the water tank and put it in the big hold and let it go adrift, and when we are near land with the vessel we will water together. Then we could say that there were eight of us in the small boat and she capsized and swamped and we swam back to the vessel. I opposed the plan and they all jumped on me, knocked me down and tied me with chains. In trying to release myself I shot and killed Coakley. Adams and Sawyer overpowered me and tied me again. Then they locked the distress signal. That night the schooner King took us off and put us in chains."
The testimony of the officers and crew of the schooner King as to the fate of things on board the Berwind when they picked her up agreed with the story as Scott told it. The four white men of the crew were missing, and the body of one negro (Coakley) was on the deck while Scott was bound with chains.
But the story of Adams and Sawyer put a different light on the affair and from the testimony Scott was in the conspiracy as deep if not deeper than the others. The court took the same view of the case and sentenced all to death. They were sentenced to be hanged on January 26 last. Sawyer and Adams appealed to the United States supreme court, and the president reprieved Scott, pending the appeal of the other negroes. As a trial was denied them, and in the district court here two weeks ago, the date for the execution was fixed for August 17. The date for the hanging of Scott had been previously fixed for today.

BRODHEAD CELEBRATES AT THE HOME COMING
OF FORMER RESIDENTSGreat Celebration Held In The Adjacent City,
At Which Several Thousand Former Residents Hold Reunion.

Brodhead, Wis., July 6.—Brodhead is celebrating a "home coming" this week that will go down in history as one of the events of the southern portion of Green county. From north, south, east and west, former residents and friends of residents have taken the hospitality of the city to its utmost. Hotels, boarding houses, and even private homes are crowded to their capacity and still they appear to come. The motto, "something done every minute" appears to be lived up to in the extreme. Band concerts, balls, athletic sports, speech making, private and public reunions and general visiting fill the days. Each train as it comes in is greeted by the strains of "Home Sweet Home," and the visitors escorted to the park. Among the lists of visitors are many from Janesville. Nor is the list of visitors confined to Wisconsin. Nebraska, Iowa, California, Minnesota, Colorado, Washington, Illinois, South Dakota, Florida, Massachusetts, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Kansas, Virginia, and London, England, are all represented by one or more former residents and the greetings between these old friends are in many cases touching. The townspeople are wild with excitement and the success of their undertaking, the visitors delighted at the treatment accorded them and the renewal of friendships and associations of bygone years.

Ten Thousand Wednesday. Added to this throng of "home comers" are hundreds of farmers residing within a radius of many miles of the city. Scarcely any work has been done in the fields this week and the rural homes have been deserted. To permit the tillers of the soil this privilege everything has been favorable. This is the season of the year when the crops grow without assistance, and the weather conditions previous have been most favorable. The farmers came in with their lunches in the morning and did not return until chore time. On Wednesday a low estimation placed the crowd that was in the city at ten thousand and both yesterday and today the visitors numbered above five thousand.

Much Interest In Baseball. While there was a continuous program being carried out in the business section of the city the entire three days the ball games at the park have been among the most popular features. Brodhead has an excellent team this year the best in many seasons—and tilted against them have been among the most popular the city. The game Wednesday between Madison and Brodhead resulted in favor of the latter by a score of six to four. Fully five thousand people witnessed the game while others numbering between four and five thousand, enjoyed the speeches and music in the parks. Two games were played Thursday afternoon, the first being played between two local teams—the dentists and doctors against the business men. About two thousand people were spectators and much enthusiasm was exhibited. The score was nine to five in favor of the business men and the line up was as follows:

Business Men	Docs. and Dents.
Hopkins	ss.	Mott	ss.
Murdoch	1b.	Mitchell	1b.
Dixon	2b.	Lyons	2b.

Lyons	c.	Davis	c.
Keenan	lf.	Kirkpatrick	lf.
Amerphol	rf.	Lawler	rf.
Wagoner	p.	Fleck	p.

The next game was between Brodhead and Monroe teams, both being in good shape. Fast ball was played and but few errors were made. The final score was six to two in favor of the home team. The line up was as follows:

Brodhead	Monroe
Man	cf.	Frazier	cf.
Hastings	1b.	Newman	1b.
Boisder	2b.	Palman	2b.
Trickle	3b.	Frazier	3b.
McConnell	c.	Kavanaugh	c.
Michals	ss.	Broughton	ss.
Keenan	lf.	Covina	lf.
Abbl	rf.	Hartman	rf.
Ericksen	p.	Kirkpatrick	p.

Excellent music was furnished throughout the gathering by the Brodhead Cornet band and the Baker Military band of Evansville.

Ballon Ascensions. Wm. D. Berguth made a successful ascension in his balloon Wednesday afternoon before an immense audience. The ascension, which was to have taken place on Thursday afternoon was not performed until evening on account of the high wind.

Many Patronized Dances. Last evening there was an "Old Folks" dance and the attendance was extremely large. The old settlers were joined later in the evening by the young merry-makers and it was not until the small hours of morning that the festivities closed. Wednesday evening there was also a ball at the opera house. Many tripped the light fantastic at this, while numberless others watched a grand display of fireworks.

Old Soldiers And Sailors. Today, the last day of the gathering was devoted largely to the old soldiers and sailors of Green county who held their annual reunion. Hon. Irvine L. Leacock, candidate for governor of Wisconsin, was one of the speakers of the day. Capt. Elmy Norcross, old Janesville, and Al S. Douglass, of Monroe, also making addresses, while there was an appropriate program of music and recitations during the afternoon.

Camp Fire Tonight. After supper a campfire will be held until the departure of comrades by the evening trains. Many able speakers from a distance, brought together by the "home coming," viz: Col. Chas. H. Jackson, I. F. Mack, Albert Salisbury, Capt. Thos. A. Jackson, besides our home talent, P. J. Clawson, F. W. Byers, Thos. Luch, singer, and others will make this campfire a most enjoyable one to the soldiers and sailors of the civil and the late Spanish-American wars.

Committee Well Satisfied. The committee in charge of the finances is more than satisfied for weather conditions could not have been nearer ideal and every visitor was satisfied and pleased with the entertainment. The officers in charge of the event were: Executive committee—Mayor H. C. Putnam, president; H. D. Kirkpatrick, secretary; L. W. Terry, treasurer; W. H. Fleck, W. W. Roderick, F. K. Vance, Edw. H. Cole, M. Broderick, B. E. McCormick, W. F. Schenck, Finance—C. W. Terry, M. Broderick, W. W. Roderick, Transportation—Edw. H. Cole, J. E. Collins, W. R. Skinner, Entertainment—M. Broderick, W. H. "Many old camels carry the skins of the young ones to the market."—Talmud. And many an older merchant may perform that function for his younger, "cocksure" competitor—if the older man has "learned things" about advertising as his years have passed.

Racine celebrated the Fourth in a most noble and patriotic manner.

The photograph with its parody on the human voice is more in evidence than ever this summer.

It has been announced that La Follette will support Lenroot. Well, Lenroot needs lots of supporting.

The small boy has it all figured out just how many more days there are until next Fourth of July.

Local candidates for office at the gift of the people have already put on that smile that will not wipe off.

The demand for campaign cigars will soon begin and the monotony of this nature will be frequent visitors as one walks the streets.

The usual number of small boys who tried to do things they should not do on Wednesday last are in evidence these days.

Janesville furnished several orators for adjacent cities on Wednesday and their endeavors helped make the eagle scream real loud.

Captain Pliny Norcross is to be a candidate for the republican nomination for the legislature and should be re-elected with a whopping big majority.

Farmers are busy now. Corn is more than knee high and tobacco and sugar beets look fine. With no Philippine tariff to reduce prices on these latter two the prospects for a good crop are excellent.

State Veterinarian Roberts is busy these days discovering the glands that have appeared in different herds in the county and killing the animals to prevent a spread of disease. This is a work worthy of hearty support of horse owners.

Janesville celebrated the nation's birthday in a quiet manner. There was much complaint that there were no hurrah boys and bands and fireworks. However, the would-be celebrators can start now collecting money for next year's celebration if they so desire. Start now and make it a hummer so that the whole country knows Janesville is on the map.

JAPAN AWAKE

"There exist, therefore, no causes likely hereafter to affect to any extent the even course of our general economy; and when the nationalization of railways is carried into effect their improvement and development will without doubt rapidly take place, and we shall also see energetically carried out works for effecting closer connection between land and sea communication, construction of telegraphs and telephones, and other undertakings which are indispensable to the development of our agriculture and industry."

With these phrases the Japanese minister of finance closes the notes on the Imperial budget for the financial year 1906-07. This vocabulary is, perhaps, one of the most important statements ever put out by the Japanese government.

That government, victorious in war against one of the greatest powers of Europe, believes that it has won its place amongst the powers of the world. The first sentence is an expression of national confidence in the immunity of Japan from that class of national interference to which Japan was subjected by China in 1895, and by Russia in 1903 and previous years. Japan believes that her victory over Russia has placed her in a position where she will not be compelled to defend her rights or existence against the aggression of a foreign power.

This being so, Japan is turning her self to the development of her resources. The minister of finance outlines a national policy. That policy is based upon commerce. Japan has caught the spirit of the age. The nation has turned from its traditions to follow a new tradition; the tradition that has made Great Britain supreme upon the sea, and has given the markets of the world into the hands of Great Britain, Germany, and the United States.

Henceforth Japan is no longer a nation of warriors. She is to become, indeed, a nation of traders. There may be, perhaps, a little of the old aristocracy for a generation or two to retard the progress of Japan toward commercial greatness, but the ministers of the government, the emperor himself, and the ruling classes of the people of Japan seem bent upon working out a destiny along lines that ten years ago were considered entirely foreign to the genius and spirit of the Japanese.

OUR MEAT EXPORTS.

With the lurid press of the country extolling Upton Sinclair and his alleged exposures of the stock yards of Chicago, congress has taken radical action on meat inspection and weird tales recounted by assuming eye witnesses of atrocities upon the public in the canned or stock yard products mingled with a few moments' consideration of the exportation of the beef and beef products is interesting. Janesville is not directly interested in the canned or stock yard products owing to its local markets and home killing, but the public at large are now so inflamed a condition over the so-called disclosures that the real value of this industry to the United States should be considered.

Exports of meats and meat products from the United States in the eleven months ending with May aggregated over 180 million dollars. The ten months for which complete figures have been presented by the Department of Commerce and Labor through its Bureau of Statistics show a total of 166 millions, and as preliminary figures for May indicate a total of over 16 millions for that month, this would make the total exports of meats and meat products up to June last about 182 million dollars, with one month remaining to complete the fiscal year.

These figures for eleven months show a larger exportation of meats and meat products than in the corresponding period of any other year in the history of our export trade, and show an increase of practically 60 per cent when compared with the figures for the corresponding months of 1896, a decade earlier.

This large increase occurs in all of the principal products, but is especially noticeable in lard, oleo oil, salted pork, fresh beef, and fresh pork. The value of lard exportations in the ten months ending with April, 1896, was 28 1/2 million dollars; in the corresponding period ending with April, 1906, it was 51 1/2 millions, having thus nearly doubled in ten years. Exports of fresh beef increased from a little less than 15 million dollars in the ten months ending with April, 1896, to practically 20 millions in the same months of 1906; hams, from 9 1/2 millions to 10 1/2 millions; oleo oil and oleomargarine, from 7 1/2 millions to practically 15 millions; salted pork, from 3 1/2 millions to practically 10 millions. Canned beef exports show but little increase during the decade, the value in ten months of 1896 being 5 million dollars, and in the same months of 1906 a little less than 5 1/2 millions. Exports of bacon also show but a slight increase, the value in the ten months ending with April, 1896, being practically 29 million dollars, and in the corresponding period of the present fiscal year 29 1/2 millions.

In order of magnitude, the exportation of meats and meat products are, for the ten months ending with April, 1906: lard, 51 1/2 million dollars; bacon, 29 millions; beef, fresh, practically 20 millions; hams, 15 2 1/2 millions; oleo oil and oleomargarine, 15 millions; salted pork, 10 millions; canned beef, 5 1/2 millions; salted beef, 4 millions; tallow, a little less than 4 millions; sausage casings, 2 1/2 millions; and fresh and canned pork, a million dollars each. Thus, the total value of meat and meat products exported in the fiscal year 1906 will approximate 200 million dollars, and will probably exceed that of any earlier year.

All parts of the world are purchasers of American provisions. The lard exports of 1906 went direct from the United States to 75 different countries and colonies, the largest quantity to the United Kingdom, valued at 17 1/2 million dollars; to Germany, about 15 millions; to Netherlands, practically 5 millions; to Belgium, 2 1/2 millions; to Cuba, 1 1/2 millions; while the remainder went in sums of less than one million dollars' value to various other countries and colonies, practically every European country being a purchaser to a greater or less extent, as were all of the countries of North and South America and the principal countries of Asia and Oceania.

Bacon, which stands second in importance in the value of meat products exported, goes largely to the United Kingdom, which took in 1906 practically 21 million dollars' worth out of the total of 25 1/2 million dollars' worth exported. The next largest purchaser was Belgium, a little over 1 million dollars' worth, followed by Netherlands to the value of about a half million dollars, and Cuba, a half million of fresh beef. The United Kingdom is the principal purchaser of the value thereof taken in 1906 having been $22,021,642 out of a total exportation of $22,138,365. Hams show the next largest total, and of the 21 1/2 million dollars' worth exported in 1906, 19 1/2 millions went to the United Kingdom, about one-half million dollars' worth to Belgium, and a half million dollars' worth to Cuba. Oleomargarine and oleo oil, the latter used for the production of oleomargarine, rank next to hams in the total value of meat products exported, amounting in ten months of 1906 to practically 15 million dollars, the bulk of which is oleo oil. This article goes chiefly to the butter-making countries, the largest part to Netherlands, which took 6 1/2 million dollars' worth out of the 11 1/2 million dollars' worth exported in 1906; the value sent to Germany was a little less than 2 millions; to the United Kingdom, 1 million; to Norway, three-quarters of a million, and to Denmark, about a half million dollars. Of the 9 1/2 million dollars' worth of salted pork exported in 1906, nearly 6 million dollars' worth went to the United Kingdom and less than a half million to any other country. Canned beef exportations amount to about 6 million dollars annually and have changed little in value for several years, having been 5 million dollars in 1901 and 6 1/2 millions in 1905; and the quantity ranging from 53 1/2 million pounds in 1901 to 60 1/2 millions in 1905. In this, as in most of the other classes of meats exported, the United Kingdom was by far the largest purchaser, taking over 4 million dollars' worth in 1905, against a little less than 1 1/2 millions' worth sent to Japan and about one-third of a million's worth to South Africa.

Great Britain, it will be seen, is by far the largest purchaser of American meat products. Of the 75 million dollars' worth of bacon, ham, fresh beef, and canned beef exported in 1905, the United Kingdom took 66 million dollars' worth, or practically 90 per cent of the total; of the total exports of meats, valued at 100 millions, she took 80 million dollars' worth, while of the 40 1/2 million dollars' worth of cattle exported in the same year she took 36 1/2 million dollars' worth.

PRESS COMMENT.

Desperate Remedy. Chicago Tribune: At any rate, the onion cure for consumption gives the patient a choice of evils.

News Suppressed. Kansas City Star: Mr. Hearst's newspapers, usually alert, are being more or less scooped on the Bryan presidential boom.

Is Mildly Enthusiastic. Racine Journal: Racine after all may not get a municipal garbage plant this year. Still the city has gotten along sixty years or so without one.

Silk Hat To Disappear. Milwaukee Sentinel: A Paris paper predicts the disappearance of the silk hat. Still, an occasional freak persists in wearing one even with a sack coat.

'Tis A Sure Sign. Detroit Free Press: When a man will eat spring onions at a free lunch before going home in the evening it is a sure sign that the honeymoon is a thing of the past.

Excuse Preferred To Pure Gold. Chicago Tribune: Rudyard Kipling is said to be losing his readers. The pace set by the Indiana authors' guild has made itself warmers out of the Kipling books.

Are There Any Such? Madison Democrat: And now Grover Cleveland will drop a hook into Wisconsin waters. Some of the uncaught fish stories will do well to wait for the distinguished angler.

A Possible Aspect Of Case. La Crosse Tribune: Shocked and disgusted as the public is over the crime of millionaire Thaw, it is becoming convinced that he lacked both the authority of law to have become an executioner whose hand no executive clemency would have stayed.

Overlooked Herebefore. Milwaukee Journal: John J. O'Connell, whom it is alleged will get the Marinette postoffice in spite of the La Follette-Stephenson combination, is twenty-eight years of age. If the stalwarts had done something for young men earlier they would not have been so easily bumped.

People Perfectly "Wise." Oshkosh Northwestern: Senator La Follette admits he is going to make a few campaign speeches in this state, but declines to explain whether they will be in favor of Lenroot or not. At the same time, it can scarcely be said that the people are left in doubt.

An Unfortunate Simile. Milwaukee Sentinel: Says Prosecutor Nott: "The Thaw murder case is simply a question of whether New York has got down to the level of a mining camp." A mining camp that had got down to the level of moral degeneracy in New York revealed by that case would be far below the average, Mr. Nott.

Monkey Dinner Beaten. La Crosse Tribune: Mrs. S. Fish of New York, Paris and Newport, has engaged Harry Lehr to go the monkey dinner one better. Harry, who is selling agent for a French champagne factory, is arranging a bathing suit dinner. Ladies and all will be attired in bathing suits. Harry has not announced whether they will bathe in his goods.

Hair Was Parted In Middle. Algoma Record: A recent number of a printers' journal published the portraits of four young men who recently graduated from a printers' technical school. Three of them had their hair parted in the middle. The other looks as though he knew something and would safely guard the pumpkins received on subscription, and if he wants a job he may send in an application.

The Two Kansas Cities. Fond du Lac Bulletin: They have had all the saloons closed in Kansas City, Missouri, on Sunday for nearly a year, but they have been open in Kansas City, Kansas, right opposite the Missouri-Kansas City until last Sunday, when Governor Hoch caused them to be closed. This will surprise people who may have got the impression that Kansas was practically a prohibition state. Kansas City, Kansas, has been notorious for its large number of drinking places for several years. Prohibition may prohibit it, but public sentiment reaches the prohibition point, but prohibition will not prohibit without the sentiment back of the law.

Why Slander The Senate? La Crosse Leader Press: In the report of a speech made by Irvine L. Lenroot at Appleton the speaker is purported to have said that "our United States senate is a body of which every true American citizen is ashamed." The report being abbreviated, the circumstances under which this expression was used are not known, nor is it known whether Mr. Lenroot intended to refer to any special act of the senate or to its conduct generally. He may not, therefore, necessarily be subject justly to criticism for uttering it. It is clear, however, that among intelligent citizens there will be vigorous disapproval of the conclusion that every true American is ashamed of the United States senate. Whatever the senate's faults, and it has had many in the past, it has amply redeemed itself by its work during the session of congress which came to a close last week. That session enacted more progressive legislation than any other for years. That it did it, and in good shape, is chiefly due to the senate. A summary of the important business in the past few months is decidedly to the senate's credit.

Honesty Is Made Profitable. Evening Wisconsin: A large fruit-canning company at Rochester, New York, is preparing to increase its capital stock for the purpose of venturing into the manufacture of a by-product. The company proposes to erect a distillery for the manufacture of denatured alcohol from the refuse of the cannery, which has heretofore been thrown away. This proposed utilization of refuse is an indication that denatured alcohol will soon be produced at a surprisingly low price and that its resultant consumption by the production of power and as an illuminant will be very great.

One of the revelations of the supporters of pure food legislation related to the use of the refuse, which the Rochester concern proposes to convert into alcohol. It has been shown that heretofore this refuse has been largely made into jellies and jams of the cheaper grades, by the use of sweeteners, colors, and preservatives. This is an old story, but it has been vouched for by so many reputable men that denial has been faint and halting. A prominent Wisconsin agriculturist, some years ago ventured into cranberry culture without success. In trying to market his first crop he was caught in a glutted market and was compelled to offer his berries at ruinous prices. Hearing of the existence of a factory in which jellies and jams were produced he hastened to it and offered his cranberries to the manager, who after he had refused the product at any price was forced to admit that he did not buy fresh stock, but made his products entirely from the fruits that went into decay in the hands of the commission merchants.

If the freeing of denatured alcohol will open an avenue for the utilization of decayed fruits and the refuse of fruit canneries, there will be less competition among the canners to risk the penalties of the pure food law by manufacturing jellies, and jams out of garbage, and a resultant benefit will be insured that has not been inventoried by the victorious advocates of the free denatured alcohol.

This Proposition Is Now Up

Can we longer afford to overlook the fact that we can secure the very best of dental service at about half the rates we have been paying? Dr. Richards of Janesville, the independent dentist, says he would be delighted to have his work put out at a modest price compared with work done by others at possibly double his prices. He affirms that the comparison will establish the fact that his work is good in every respect. His work is lasting. His work is done thoroughly. His work is substantial, and in fact, not excelled by that of any other local dentist.

In addition to the reasonableness of his prices he gives close attention to painless work. Now see what you get by having him do your dental work.

MRS. JACOB WALRATH BREATHED HER LAST

At Home in Town of Fulton Yesterday Afternoon—Her Husband Died Two Months Ago.

Mrs. Jacob Walrath, an old resident of the town of Fulton, passed peacefully away at her home at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Walrath of Tennessee, Grant Walrath of Fulton, Mrs. Ada Johnson of Chicago, and Mrs. J. S. Earle of Porter. The late Mr. and Mrs. Walrath celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on January 2, 1905. The funeral is to be held from the home at one o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Elvira Antisdel, a resident of the county for the past fifty-seven years and mother of O. D. Antisdel, superintendent of schools in the second Rock county district, died at her home in Fulton this morning at 1:20 o'clock. She was seventy-seven years of age and one of the most highly respected pioneer residents of the community in which she lived. There are left to mourn her demise three children, Miss Emma J. Antisdel and O. D. Antisdel of Fulton and Frank H. Antisdel of Baker City. The funeral will be held from the Baptist church in Fulton Sunday afternoon at half past two o'clock. Rev. R. M. Vaughan of this city officiating.

C. L. Brown, Edgerton, July 6.—Word has been received here of the death of C. L. Brown at Hammond, Ind. Mr. Brown has long been prominent in county affairs and for many years conducted a livery stable here. He was also a deputy sheriff for many years. Two daughters, Mrs. Bert Landauer of Milton and Mrs. L. D. Harvey of Menomonie, Wis., survive him. His remains will be brought to Edgerton for interment on Sunday.

REVEREND HICKS TELLS OF WEATHER

Veteran St. Louis Forecaster Makes Another Long-Range Announcement.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 10th, 11th and 12th. The crisis of this period will fall on and touch the 11th. Thursday the 13th. The Venus period extends up to about the 25th, so that the extremes from summer heat to sudden cool are liable to characterize the storm and weather changes at that time. A regular storm period covers the 25th to the 28th, central on the 17th. This period the 15th to 19th will lead up to one of July's warmest periods. More thunder storms and local cloudbursts are probable about the 17th to 19th. A reactionary storm period is central on the 29th and 30th, being central on the 29th. As early as the 26th the last storm period in July will show decided indications of approaching summer storms. During Friday the 27th to Monday the 30th, high temperature, low barometer and threatening thunder gusts will pass eastwardly over most parts of the country.

While these rains will aid substantially in maturing grasses, fruits and early grain, we are still apprehensive that the corn and other late crops in western, central and northern sections will suffer through lack of moisture. The June rains will be sufficient generally, with abnormal cloudbursts and floods, but the tug will come with the crops that most need the rains in July, August and into the autumn.

BAND CONCERT ON MOONLIGHT NIGHT

Multitude Numbering Two or More Thousand Wended Way to Court House Park.

A Beautiful Piano Display at Story & Clark's, No. 7 North Main.

One of the largest and finest stocks of pianos ever shown in Janesville can be seen at the show-rooms of the Story & Clark Piano Co., No. 7 North Main street, Waverly block. Piano buying is made easy by this firm, as one does not have to take anybody's word as to the quality of tone and workmanship. The goods are right on the floor, where they can be examined and tested as much as desired. No piano made has a better and few as good a reputation for first-class tone, quality, finish and workmanship as the Story & Clark, and the prices being quoted on these pianos are a surprise to those who have priced them elsewhere. In addition to the Story & Clark many other well-known makes are in stock, including the Cable-Nelson, Bradford, Wellington, Ellington, Howard, etc. The gentlemen conducting the business here, Messrs. Guiss, Schroeder & Robertson, have many friends by their methods of doing business and many have already purchased pianos from them. Seven pianos were sold last Saturday and as fast as they are sold other take their place, so that the selection is always complete.

A FOOL FOR LOVE

By FRANCIS LYNDY
AUTHOR OF "THE GRAYERS," ETC.

"Hah!" he said, merrily. Then, in his most courteous phrase: "Did I understand you to say that Miss Winton would not have us to-night, my dear Virginia?"

"He could not. He has come upon some other difficulty. I believe," she stammered, steering a perilous course among the rocks of equivocation.

"Mmph!" said the Rajah, rising. "Ah—where is Jastrow?"

"The obsequious one appeared; imp-like, at the mention of his name, and received a curt order.

"Go and find Engineer McGrath and his fireman. Tell him I want the engine instantly. Move, sch!"

Virginia retreated to her stateroom. In a few minutes she heard her uncle go out, and shortly afterwards the Rosemary's engine shook itself free of the car and rumbled away westward. At that Virginia went back to the others and found a book. But it was blankly impossible. "How hot you people keep it in here!" Cousin Billy, won't you take a turn with me on the station platform? I can't breathe!"

Calvert acquiesced eagerly, scenting possibilities. But when they were out under the frosty stars he had the good sense to walk her up and down in the healing silence and darkness for five full minutes before he ventured to say what was in his mind.

When he spoke it was earnestly and to the purpose, not without eloquence. He loved her; had always loved her, he thought. Could she not, with time and the will to try, learn to love him—not as a cousin?

"She turned quickly and put both hands on his shoulders.

"On Cousin Billy—don't!" she faltered brokenly, and he, seeing at once that he had played the housebreaker where he would have been the welcome guest, took his punishment manfully, drawing her arm in his and walking her yet other turns up and down the long platform until his patience and the silence had wrought their perfect work.

"Does it hurt much?" she asked, softly, after a long time.

"You would have to change places with me to know just how much it hurts," he answered. "And yet you haven't left me quite desolate, Virginia. I still have something left—all I've ever had, I fancy."

"And that is—"

"My love for you, you know. It isn't at all contingent upon your yes or no, or upon possession; it never has been, I think. It has never asked much except the right to be."

She was silent for a moment. Then she said: "Cousin Billy, I do believe that you are the best man that ever lived. And I am ashamed—ashamed!"

"What for?"

"If I have spoiled you, ever so little, for some truer, worthier woman. You haven't; you mustn't take that view of it. I am decently in love with my work—a work that not a few wise men have agreed could best be done alone. I don't think there will be any other woman. You see, there is only one Virginia. Shall we go in now?"

She nodded, but when they reached the Rosemary the returning engine was rattling upon the open sliding Virginia drew back.

"I don't want to meet Uncle Somerville just now," she confessed. "Can't we climb up to the observation platform at the other end of the car?"

He said yes, and made the affirmative good by lifting her in his arms over the high railing. Once safely on the car, she bade him leave her.

"Slip in quietly and they won't notice," she said. "I'll come presently."

Calvert obeyed, and Virginia stood alone in the darkness. Down in the Utah construction camp lights were darting to and fro, and before long she heard the hoarse puffs of the big octopod, belching activities.

She was shivering a little in the chill wind sliding down from the snow-peaks, yet she would not go in until she had made sure. In a little time her patience was rewarded. The huge engine came storming up the grade on the new line, pushing its three flat-cars, which were black with clinging men. On the car nearest the locomotive, where the dazzling beam of the headlight picked him out for her, stood Winton, braced against the lurchings of the train over the uneven track.

"God speed you, my love!" she murmured, softly, and when the gloom of the upper canyon cleft had engulfed man and men and storming engine she turned to go in.

She was groping for the doorknob in the darkness made thicker by the glare of the passing headlight when a voice, disembodied for the moment, said: "Wait a minute, Miss Carteret. I like to have a word with you."

She drew back quickly.

"Is it you, Mr. Jastrow? Let me go in, please."

"In one moment. I have something to say to you—something you ought to hear."

"Can't it be said on the other side of the door?" I am cold—very cold, Mr. Jastrow."

It was his saving hint, but he would not take it.

"No, it must be said to you alone. We have at least one thing in common, Miss Carteret—yon and I. That is a proper appreciation of the successful realty."

and white. With the final word of Virginia's explanation, the fierce old master of men was up and clutching for the secretary's throat, and the working complement of the Rosemary enforced instant loss.

"You'll say upon a member of my family, will you?" he stormed. "Out with you, bag and baggage, before I lose my temper and forget what is due to this young lady you have insulted; she, with your infamous proposals! Faveh me instantly, while you have a leg to run with! Go!"

Jastrow disappeared, and when the door closed behind him Virginia faced her irate clan-chief bravely.

"He was a spy, and he would have been a traitor for a consideration. Uncle Somerville. But I am little better. What will you do to me?"

The Rajah's wrath evaporated quickly, and a shrewd smile, not unkindly, wrinkled the ruddy old face.

"So it was a case of the trapped trapped, was it, my dear?" I'm sorry—right sorry. I might have known how it would be; a young man would have known. But you have done no unpardonable mischief. Miss Winton would have found out for herself in a few hours at farthest, and we are ready for him now."

"Oh, dear," she said. "Then he will be beaten?"

"Unquestionably. Faveh me by going to bed, my dear. Your roses will suffer sadly for all this excitement. I faveh. Good night."

RAKE UP MUCK HEAP TO EXPOSE THAWS

EVERY MOVE MADE BY PRISONER AND WIFE PROBED.

CONFLICTING TALES TOLD

Claim Made and Denied That Evelyn Nesbit Sought to Bring Suit for Alleged Breach of Promise.

New York, July 6.—Conflicting stories as to the existence or non-existence of an affidavit made by Evelyn Nesbit in a breach of promise suit which it is alleged she took steps to bring against Harry Kendall Thaw prior to her trip to Europe, and marriage to him later, were told by persons interested in the investigation of the Thaw-White murder.

Assistant District Attorney Garvan was quoted as saying that there was no truth in the story that he expected to come into possession of the alleged affidavit and further that he had no reason to believe such a paper existed.

Counsel for Harry Thaw, and Mrs. Thaw herself added their denials to the report that there had ever been such an affidavit made or contemplated. The reports were said to be circulated by some enemy of Thaw and were wholly untrue.

A private detective who had been engaged by Stanford White, to shadow Harry Thaw, was examined by Mr. Garvan, and said he had submitted his reports to Howe & Hummel and Delaney Nicoll, attorneys.

Reports at Variance.

Following this came a statement attributed to the district attorney's office, that it was known there that the Nesbit girl had visited the office of Howe & Hummel, that she did have a consultation with Mr. Hummel, and it is alleged that at that interview, the case being Mr. Hummel's personal matter, and not a part of the office business.

It was further stated that while the district attorney's office had learned the affidavit was really made, it had been destroyed upon the reconciliation of the Nesbit girl and young Thaw.

There was a further report current that the district attorney's office had been informed that a record of the alleged affidavit exists, is available and will play a prominent part in the evidence introduced by the prosecution at Thaw's trial.

Only One Ceremony.

Judge Olcott said, that Mrs. Thaw's statement of several days ago, in which she declared that she and Thaw were married in Europe and that the ceremony in Pittsburg was performed solely upon the request of Thaw's mother, was made under a misapprehension. He said that the confusion arose through Mrs. Thaw's misunderstanding a question on the telephone, and that, as a matter of fact, the Thaws never were married in Europe. The first and only marriage ceremony was the one performed at Pittsburg.

Roger Omara, former superintendent of police of Pittsburg, who had been summoned there by counsel for Thaw, had a conference with Judge Olcott. Mrs. Thaw was present during part of the interview and had a talk with Mr. Omara. The detective will immediately start west in charge of a corps of men to gather all possible information that will help Thaw to gain his freedom.

Philippine Assignments.

Washington, July 6.—Orders issued at the war department assign Brig. Gen. Jesse M. Lee to the command of the Philippine Islands, with headquarters at Manila, and Brig. Gen. Walter T. Dugan, recently promoted from colonel of the first infantry, to the command of the brigade camp established at Camp Stotsenberg, in Luzon.

S.S.S. RIDES THE SYSTEM OF MALARIA

The healthy color of the skin is given to it by the millions of little red corpuscles in the blood. These are the carriers of nourishment, health and strength to all parts of the body—in other words the very life of the system. When the germs of Malaria get into this vital fluid they destroy blood corpuscles and rob the blood of its rich, life-sustaining qualities, rendering it thin, weak and watery and unable to supply the system with the strength to resist disease. Then the symptoms of Malaria such as pale, sallow complexion, weak vitality, poor appetite, deranged digestion, a general "let down" condition of the system, and perhaps chills and slight fever, show that this insidious disease is gradually affecting the entire health. Malaria must be removed from the system through the circulation, and the medicine to accomplish this is S. S. S. It not only cleanses the blood of all impure, unhealthy matter, but it also restores the system of Malaria, and restores the blood to a strong, healthy condition. S. S. S., besides removing the germs of Malaria, builds up and gives tone and vigor to the entire system by its tonic effects. Malaria is a blood disease, and S. S. S. cures it because it is a perfect blood purifier. Book on the blood and any medical advice without charge.

SON OF RICH MAN DROWNED

LOSES LIFE WHILE SWIMMING IN BIG SQUAM LAKE.

Youth in Charge of Camp for Boys in Humble Circumstances Dies in the Water.

Ashland, N. H., July 6.—H. McK. Twombly, Jr., only son of H. McK. Twombly, the well-known capitalist of New York and Newport, was drowned Thursday night while swimming in Big Squam lake, six miles from Ashland.

Young Twombly was 18 years old. He came to New Hampshire about three weeks ago with a number of others who had charge of a dozen or more boys in humble circumstances who were sent into camp at the expense of the Groton school of Groton, Mass., from which Twombly was graduated last month.

Twombly started to swim from the Groton school camp to Carr's Cove, one mile distant. He had reached a point a short distance from the shore where the camp is located, when he was seen to struggle in the water, but before any of the boys in the camp could reach him he disappeared from view.

The body was recovered soon afterward and was brought to Ashland. It will be taken to Newport.

Twombly was very popular with the boys at Groton and those at the camp. Since his stay at the lake he had entered the water frequently and was a good swimmer. He intended to enter Harvard next fall.

Twombly's mother was Miss Florence A. Vanderbilt, daughter of the late William H. Vanderbilt, of New York.

PREY TO MEMORIES; CAST HIS LIFE AWAY

Conductor Randall Peck of Baraboo Sought and Met Terrible Doom on Rails Yesterday.

E. Randall Peck of Baraboo, employed on the North-Western road as a conductor for many years and a man held in the highest esteem by all who knew him, wandered out on the track into a deep-cut north of the city at noon yesterday and when about a mile from his home city is believed to have deliberately consigned himself to an instant and frightful death under a northbound extra freight train. There are several versions of the tragedy. According to one of the locomotive headlamps in front of the locomotive. According to another he had gotten onto his knees with his head just across the rail to await his swift and terrible doom. The tragedy was first discovered by the crew of the southbound passenger due in Janesville at 3:13 p. m. It was found that the head had been completely severed from the trunk of the body. The remains were taken to Baraboo, where friends broke the horrible tidings to the wife and family.

Conductor Peck had not been himself since that awful evening in February when he mistook the Janesville accommodation from Chicago for the DeKalb passenger, for which he was to wait, and took his special consisting of a locomotive and a caboose out to meet a terrible collision just beyond the curve at the Monterey mill. That mistake in observation, due partly to unfamiliarity with the local yards, cost Joseph Mahor of Janesville, fireman Bernish of Sun Prairie, and Engineer Laftery of Madison their lives and Conductor George Devins of Janesville, who was in charge of the DeKalb passenger, was so severely injured that he has never since been able to resume work. With his mind unbalanced by the catastrophe, Conductor Peck, who had also been severely injured, lay in the hospital for many days. When at length he was able to leave the corner's jury had passed in a verdict couched in such terms as to permit him to go his way without prosecution for criminal carelessness, but his first serious accident had placed a stain to his career on the rails. Day by day he brooded over the terrible tragedy. Forgetting that he was no longer in the employ of the road he had his watch regulated every twenty-four hours. Relatives and friends feared that he would make an attempt to take his life, but it was impossible to watch him always. Besides the sorrowing wife, a son and daughter are left to suffer and mourn.

FINDS SON DEAD IN KITCHEN

Accident or Suicide Caused Death of Well-Known Marksman in Western Minnesota.

Fergus Falls, Minn., July 6.—William Dewey, one of the best rifle shots in western Minnesota, had the top of his head blown off Wednesday night, either by accident or with suicidal intent.

The Dewey family attended a local celebration during the evening and all had retired for the night except William.

A loud report was heard from the kitchen and the aged father, thinking a large firecracker had exploded, went to investigate.

He found William lying on the floor, a rifle by his side and his brains and blood spattered over the wall and ceiling.

Kills Woman and Self.

Des Moines, Ia., July 6.—At the close of a Fourth of July dance at Manning, Ia., at two o'clock Thursday morning, Ernest Koehnke, a young farmer, shot and instantly killed 18-year-old Lucy Fisher, and then ended his own life. Miss Fisher discouraged Koehnke's attentions.

San Juan, P. R., July 6.—The extraordinary session of the insular legislature opened Thursday. In his message to the legislature Gov. Beckman Winthrop recommends the building of a new steamship pier, the money to be taken from the $1,000,000 loan available for public improvements.

Lawn Tennis.

Tennis was first played in the early part of the sixteenth century in England and France. Matches for considerable wagers were frequently held, and rather than give up the game many men played for parts of their wearing apparel after their money was gone. In England toward the last of that century covered tennis courts were erected, and nearly all the nobility played, including the women. Henry VIII. was a devoted follower of tennis, and Henry VIII. was also fascinated by the sport. The first royal tennis match was played between this monarch with the Emperor Maximilian for a partner against the prince of Orange and the Marquis de Brandenborow. Charles II. was the first person to adopt a tennis costume.

Cement Output.

The manufacture of cement in the United States continues to make remarkable progress. Whereas in 1890 there were 16 factories producing annually 335,000 barrels of Portland cement, there were in 1905, 82 plants, with an estimated annual output of 31,000,000 barrels. The manufacture has increased about a hundredfold in 16 years, for in 1889 the total production was 300,000 barrels. Since the great extension of the use of this material the amount of natural cement produced in America has rapidly declined.

TO PREVENT WAR IN CENTRAL AMERICA

UNITED STATES AND MEXICO PROTECT CABRERA.

BOTH READY TO ARBITRATE

Guatemala and Salvador, Although at Point of Conflict, Are Willing to Call on Disinterested Nations.

Washington, July 6.—Again the United States will probably figure as a peacemaker. Guatemala and Salvador are making overtures for the arbitration of their troubles resulting from the alleged activity of Salvador in support of the revolutionary movement against President Cabrera of Guatemala, and it is likely that the United States will be selected as the country in which the board of arbitration will meet.

The state department has been advised of the desire of the two countries, which are almost at the point of making war, against each other, to have their differences settled by arbitration, and although formal negotiations have not been made as yet, there seems to be but little doubt that an amicable settlement of the points of difference will be finally effected through arbitrators.

At the first intimation of outside interference in Guatemala affairs the state department sent the Marlehead from Panama to prevent meddling, and Mexico and the United States both made it clear that they would look with disfavor upon any combination of Central American powers to overthrow President Cabrera of Guatemala.

Envoy from Salvador.

When the position of the United States became clear, Salvador announced the appointment of J. R. Paez as a special envoy to present the Salvadoran position to American authorities and prevent any serious international complication. The state department has been advised of the departure of Mr. Paez for this country, but it is not believed that he will arrive in Washington for several weeks because of difficulty of reaching this country from Salvador.

Guatemala has complained bitterly to the United States of the conduct of Salvador, and charges that the latter government has taken every means to forward the cause of the revolutionary general, Quiriles, and to hasten the downfall of President Cabrera. It is charged that Salvador not only winked at all expeditions which crossed her boundary into Guatemalan territory, but actually sent troops into Guatemala and committed many acts which cannot be regarded as less than the invasion of the territory of a friendly power.

Open Door in Abyssinia.

Paris, July 6.—The officials here consider that the Anglo-French-Italian negotiations relative to Abyssinia are practically completed. The main features are a guaranty of the integrity of the empire, the open door and commercial equality for all countries.

Tobacco Trust Probe.

Nashville, Tenn., July 6.—The investigation of the alleged tobacco trust, was commenced before the federal grand jury in this city Thursday.
